Penn State #1 Again For Best Online Bachelor's Degree Programs

For the second year in a row, Penn State World Campus has been ranked No. 1 for the best online bachelor's degree programs by U.S. News and World Report. <http://news.psu.edu/...>

The 2016 Best Online Bachelor's Programs rankings considered 300 colleges and universities across the country that offer online undergraduate education. U.S. News weighed student engagement, faculty credentials, academic services and reputation. World Campus received a perfect score of 100 in the U.S. News methodology and shared the No. 1 ranking with Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University Worldwide.

Penn State launched the World Campus in 1998 with four online programs and 41 students. Over the past 18 years, the number of online offerings has grown to more than 125 online degrees and certificates, and the number of students stands at more than 12,000 across the globe.

No matter how far removed you are from Happy Valley, in years or in miles, there are many opportunities for alumni to stay connected to THON. This year, alumni can reconnect with the Alumni Challenge and Inspire 5.
